Order Picker License Guelph - Order picking is also known as order preparation operation. This is one of the main processes within a warehouse and comprises people referred to as order pickers, taking and collecting articles in a specific quantity before shipment to be able to accomplish customer orders. Order picking is a simple warehousing method. The effectiveness in which this task is completed can be directly linked to a supply chain's productivity. Therefore, order picking is amongst the most controlled logistic methods. Order picking falls within the category of the warehouse management system.

There are some specific types of order picking. The main kinds comprise: wave picking method, pick to box method, picker to part method or piece picking, zone picking method and sorting systems method.

The pick to box method comprises the order picker filling the box with the stuff from his or her station. The box then moves to other picking stations until the client order is finish. In this particular process, there is no movement of the order picker employees. In the wave picking method, the order pickers move around to be able to gather the necessary products for some orders. The piece picking or picker to part method is similar where the order picker or pickers move in order to collect the items required but for one order only.

There is no movement by the order picker in the sorting systems method. Rather, things are delivered to the orderpicker by an automatic system like for instance an automatic storage system or a conveyor system. In the zone picking method, every order picker is assigned to one particular area. They are responsible for just realizing order picking within this specified area.
